

Session 3

Hebrews 3: Christ Is A Better Guide than Moses

If you visit a city as a tourist, it's often helpful to have a guide to explain things to you. It helps if the guide knows a little about your interests, but it's essential the guide knows a lot about the places he takes you to.

Question: Suppose you are planning a day-trip to Bothwell Castle. Imagine you can choose any guide you want. Would you choose the current caretaker, or Walter of Moray, who designed it and built it in the 13th century? Why?
